DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Woolman (US 6,433,779).

3. As to claim 1, figures 1 and 3 of Woolman disclose a computer mouse cover for a computer mouse, comprising:

an anterior width of material [a front portion 5]; and a posterior width of material [a rear portion 6], in communication with said anterior width of material [the rear portion 6 and the front portion 5 are integrated into the communication];

wherein said anterior width of material is larger than said posterior width of material [the front portion 5 is largely hollow on the bottom and front, and the rear portion 6 is sized and shaped as to fit under the palm of the user's small hand, col. 3, line 58 to col. 4, line 13. Thus, the front portion 5 is larger than the rear portion 6, see figures 1 and 3 as show below].

4. As to claim 2, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said anterior width of material is flexible, whereas Woolman discloses that limitation in the abstract.

5. As to claim 3, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said posterior width of material is flexible, whereas Woolman further discloses that limitation in the abstract.

6. As to claim 4, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said anterior width of material is measured between anterior ends of side walls of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman further discloses “[a]s shown in FIGS. 6 and 7, the extension device is comprised of an elongated top wall 10 with a front end and a rear end. Opposite side walls 11 extend down from opposite sides of top wall 10. Side walls 11 have arcuate interior surfaces 12 adjacent front ends thereof” col. 4, lines 14-17.

7. As to claim 5, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said posterior width of material is measured between posterior ends of side walls of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman further discloses “[a] front opening F fully extends between the front ends of side walls 11, and a bottom opening B fully extends between the lower ends of side walls 11” col. 4, lines 18-23.

8. As to claim 6, the computer mouse cover of claim 4, wherein said posterior width of material is measured between posterior ends of side walls of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman further discloses “[a] front opening F fully extends between the front ends of side walls 11, and a bottom opening B fully extends between the lower ends of side walls 11” col. 4, lines 18-23.

Art Unit: 2629

9. As to claim 7, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, further comprising curved tips protruding perpendicular to and in communication with said posterior width, whereas Woolman further discloses "[a] bottom opening B fully extends between the lower ends of side walls 11" col. 4, lines 18-23. Thus, one skilled in the art to recognize that the vertical wall of a protrusion at B is perpendicular with respect to the horizontal surface 2.

10. As to claim 8, the computer mouse cover of claim 7, wherein said curved tips are formed to engage the front of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman discloses a computer cover mouse is made to fit snugly over the circular form of the host mouse, col. 3, lines 50-53.

11. As to claim 9, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said anterior width of material is formed to engage the anterior ends of side walls of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman discloses "the interior surface of this portion of the device is moulded to match the outer form of the host mouse and remains registered with and attached to same by way of friction at the contacting surfaces" col. 3, lines 54-58.

12. As to claim 10, the computer mouse cover of claim 1, wherein said posterior width of material is formed to engage the posterior ends of side walls of the computer mouse, whereas Woolman further discloses "[t]he device has a front portion 5 whose primary purpose is to grip or adhere to the host mouse" col. 3, lines 53-54.
